Cars obstruct view at intersection

House panel resumes debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee resumed today its landmark debate on the impeachment of President Nixon, hearing first from a Republican who declared Nixon "is entitled to a presumption of innocence."

The assertion from Rep. Charles E. Wiggins of California came despite Tuesday's claim from another GOP defender of the President that a committee decision against Nixon is assured.

Wiggins has frequently been characterized as Nixon's most articulate defender on the committee, but he told the committee's second session of formal debate that "I wince" at that label because he believes simply that the case should be decided according to law.

If fairness is not the overriding factor in the epic proceedings, said Wiggins, "we would be doing a greater violence to the Constitution than any misconduct alleged of Richard Nixon."

Wiggins was the first of 27 committee members remaining to make opening statements in the debate on a proposed two-article recommendation of impeachment.

If the committee approves impeachment in a vote expected this weekend, then the full House of Representatives must decide whether to send the matter on to the Senate for trial.

Wiggins told his colleagues it was "not too late for me to challenge" whether they should sit in the proceeding if they have formed a preconceived notion on Nixon's guilt or innocence.

But despite his challenge, the committee was believed likely to vote impeachment, though the margin of such a vote remains to be determined.

The committee opened its historic debate Wednesday night before a nationwide television and radio audience that heard Rep. Charles W. Sandman Jr., R-N.J., claim "There are sufficient votes here for an impeachment resolution.

"Everyone knows that. There is no use kidding ourselves about it," he said.

Sandman, who lined up against impeachment, was one of 11 committee members who gave their views in a televised presentation of the historic proceedings.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr.'s schedule for the 38-member committee calls for concluding general debate tonight and moving onto actual consideration of articles of impeachment Friday. That schedule suffered a slight setback last night when a bomb scare forced a 47-minute delay.

The threat, telephoned to the Capitol switchboard, forced Rodino to empty the packed room while police searched fruitlessly for a bomb. Later, after Rodino had recessed the proceedings for the night and the hearing room had almost emptied, a second bomb threat was received. Again nothing was found.

The most explosive item in the room was a resolution offered by Rep. Harold D. Donohue, D-Mass., calling for Nixon's impeachment on two broad articles, one based on the Watergate cover-up, the other charging him with abusing his powers of office.

The proposed articles, still subject to refinements, were drafted after day-long negotiations between pro-impeachment Democrats and seven fence-sitting members—four Republicans and three Southern Democrats.

Neither side would say publicly that the articles as presented represent an agreement, but one participant in the negotiations said he expects the seven undecided members to support at least one of them. That would produce a 26-12 vote in favor of impeachment.

The Watergate article accuses Nixon of acting "directly and personally and through his close subordinates and agents" to obstruct the investigation of the Watergate break-in.

Man tries to shoot girlfriend

HAYWOOD CITY — Columbus Nathaniel Jefferson, 44, of Haywood City was arrested here early today for allegedly attempting to shoot Louise Wiley of Crowder with a 12 gauge shotgun.

Scott County Deputy Sheriff Bud Jones said the woman is Jefferson's girl friend and that the shooting followed a quarrel.

Jefferson allegedly fired a shotgun twice through two bedroom windows in the Wiley house, located west of Crowder. The incident reportedly occurred about 6 a.m. Sunday.

The first blast knocked over a fan near the bed. The second shot allegedly hit the bed where the Wiley woman had been sleeping. She had jumped out of bed after the first shot.

Jefferson was taken to the Scott County jail. Bond had not been set this morning.

Public heeds city plea; water consumption drops

Water comsumption in Sikeston has dropped 200,000 gallons a day since Sikeston Light and Water Co. officials asked residents to conserve water, Dick Inman, director of the Board of Municipal Utilities said today.

Inman said he checked Wednesday morning and found only 2,800,000 gallons had been used Tuesday, compared with an average of 3,040,000 gallons a day during the rest of the month.

Water used dropped sufficiently Tuesday night for the city to refill its 2.2-million gallon water storage facility. The city had been using storage water to meet the demand and had been unable to refill it for some time.

Sikeston is in good shape if people continue to conserve water, Inman said.

The city's water system came under strain because of the current long dry spell that increased demand substantially.

No shortage exists in available water, but the capacity of the water filtration plant on South Ingram Street is not sufficient to handle the heavy burden being placed on it, even though an additional work crew was added to work nights.

The old water filtration plant, closed in 1964, is being renovated and will add 750,000 gallons of filtering capacity when it is turned on in late August.

But Inman said the renovation will not solve the long- range problem of keeping up with Sikeston's rapid growth. Voters will be asked in the fall to approve a $500,000 bond issue for a new plant to be operational next summer.

The proposed plant would be expandable so additional filtration units could be added to handle increased demand.

DWI arrest blows New Madrid trusty's cover

CARUTHERSVILLE — Dwight Butler — a former Mississippi and Missouri state prison convict reportedly serving as an undercover agent for the New Madrid County sheriff's department while being held by the county for parole violations in both states and a county charge — was arrested in Pemiscot County July 17 for driving while intoxicated.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Mike Hazel said today that charges of fraud through the use of a check would be filed against Butler.

Butler, who has served time in the Missouri State Penitentiary and was paroled Aug. 16, 1973, from the Mississippi state prison, had his parole revoked by both states March 8, 1974 after being charged with burglary and stealing in Stoddard County. He also was charged with possession of stolen property March 15 in New Madrid County.

The 31- year - old ex-convict was sentenced to the Missouri State Penitentiary Feb. 22, 1961, and was returned Feb. 4, 1966 afer being convicted of burglary and drawing sentences of four and three year, respectively.

In Mississippi, he was sentenced to three years for burglary on Oct. 30, 1972, and was paroled Aug. 16, 1973.

Butler is presently free on bond from Stoddard County where he was charged with burglary and stealing in relation to a theft at Shipman's Rebel Market in Dexter. He posted $2,500 bond, and his trial has been postponed numerous times. He is now scheduled to appear Aug. 20. His bond was raised to $15,000 on April 17 when he failed to appear in court. It was reduced to $2,500 again when he did show up and entered a not guilty plea.

New Madrid County has had custody of Butler since his release from Stoddard County. He is under $1,000 bond for the possession of stolen property charge.

2 men held for robbery

NEW MADRID — James Lloyd Dupree, 39, of Florence, Ala., and Donald Jeral Sullivan, 24, of Okeechobee, Fla., were held in the New Madrid County jail today after they allegedly robbed a Utah man in the Hickory Village Restaurant parking lot at Portageville Wednesday night.

The two were apprehended about 11:30 p.m. on Interstate 55 near the Interstate 57 interchange at the south edge of Sikeston by Cpl. Melvin Moyers and Trooper Mike Robertson of the highway patrol.

A highway patrol spokesman said today two men drove up to Carl Dean Wopsock — a Ute Indian from a reservation in Utah — at Hickory Village and asked him for $2. When Wopsock pulled out his billfold and handed them the $2, they pushed him down and took the billfold which contained from $50 to $100, then drove off and headed north on I-55.

Figley girl, 9, dies of burns

ST. LOUIS — Paula Figley, 9, a member of the James Figley family whose home about seven miles east of LaForge was destroyed by fire July 9, died at 10:25 a.m. Tuesday in Barnes Hospital of burns which covered 90 per cent of her body.

The fire occurred about 8:30 p.m. and apparently was caused by a gas leak after the family had moved into the house earlier the same day.

Mrs. Figley and another daughter, Amy, 7, are still in critical condition and a son, James Timothy, 4, is listed in fair condition at St. John's Mercy Hospital. Figley is in fair condition at Barnes Hospital.

ALCOHOLISM IN AMERICA

The newly released Federal report on alcohol and health is full of bad news for America: heavy drinkers are much more likely to get cancer of the mouth or throat; alcohol costs the country more than $25 billion annually in the form of lost work, auto accidents and medical bills; and heavy drinking is alarmingly on the rise among teenagers.

Citing a random sample of 10,000 junior and senior high school students — the largest sample ever taken — the report says both the frequency of drinking and the amount consumed has skyrocketed during the past three years, from 1970 to 1973. Usage among boys increased from 50 to 77 per cent; among girls from 38 to 67 per cent.

Dr. Morris E. Chafetz, Director of the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism which released the report, noted that some nations in which the populations use alcohol widely do not experience similar alcoholic problems. "In these societies, alcohol is typically consumed under clear, well- defined guidelines, in a family or relaxed social environment that stands in sharp contrast to ... the American bar, or the tense atmosphere of the American cocktail party. Above all, drunkenness is condemned, and drunk behavior is not tolerated.

"On the other hand, our American society has persistently used alcohol as a humorous condition to be condoned instead of a serious state of sickness to be avoided."

Dr. Chafetz said a person may know that he or she has a serious problem with alcohol if that person: has been intoxicated four times in one year, goes to work intoxicated, or does something under the influence of alcohol that he or she wouldn't do without its influence.

We believe Dr. Chafetz and the Institute are on target in their efforts to combat this critical American problem. In addition to calling for expanded and innovative ways to care for the casualties of the disease, Dr. Chafetz concludes that we must establish "socially responsible guidelines" to help our citizens avoid dangerous drinking practices.

We echo his call for key elements of the nation's private sector — including the liquor, entertainment, education, health, and advertising industries — to plunge into this effort.

NO TIME FOR CUTTING FEDERAL TAXES

We agree with Sen. Eagleton and many others at Washington who are against a cut in federal taxes this year, saying it would be inflationary.

Not only do we believe that, but we also believe it would be better to cut millions, possibly billions, out of the federal budget, cut some of the aid being given to foreign nations, balance our federal budget, and if possible start paying off some of our high national debt instead of adding to it by reducing taxes, yet keeping right on spending more than we take in.

THIS SIDE OF THE HORIZON

But he saw no goals. In that segment of his life which lay within his vision, he saw no great, gaping spaces which yawned for a man of deeds to come and fill. He saw no mighty rivers to span. He saw no unexplored regions to conquer. He saw no ravening monsters to challenge his prowess. He saw only people, little people, who blocked his view.

So the youth stood aloof. Frustrated and despondent, he sought a sage to whom he made his confession. "I want to do big things — great things!" he said, trembling with passionate zeal, "but I can see and think only of little things — the little comings and goings of the lives of little people. I am surrounded by littleness. Tell me how to train my vision so I can see great purpose in the offing."

The old philosopher smiled an indulgent smile. "Continue to see little things, young man," he said. "Observe them diligently; fill your soul with their littleness, and out of your earnest concern will grow the mighty things which you desire."

Pigeons were once so numerous in the United States that they were a menace to crops, and a constant source of annoyance to farmers. One method of getting rid of them was to catch a pigeon and fasten it to a "call stoll" in the field. When the other pigeons flocked around the decoy, it was easy enough to trap them. From this practice we have derived our expression, "stool pigeon.'"

SUICIDAL BARGAIN

Although it has been estimated that over half of the petroleum resources in this country remain to be discovered, along with some 66 per cent of discoverable gas reserves, the costs of exploration and development will steadily rise as the search goes farther afield and deeper into the Earth. In the meantime, steady pressure has grown for greater importation of allegedly cheaper oil from politically unstable countries in the Middle East. The unpleasant fact is that these import supplies could be cut off at a moment's notice. If that happens, after dwindling incentives have stifled U. S. development, an energy dependent U. S. would no longer be a free agent.

Any executive of a major oil company described the problems in a few words: "When all of the side issues are stripped away, the basic issue is clear: assuring a sufficient supply of energy at acceptable costs for the essential needs of this nation in the future ... If this problem were purely a matter of economics, we would simply draw our supplies from domestic and foreign sources on the basis of efficiency and economy. Unfortunately, however, the political instability of many foreign producing nations raises grave questions about free access to foreign supplies in the future. So our problem really is searching for that delicate balance of domestic and foreign supply that will meet our needs at the lowest costs without endangering our national security."

The life of our country depends upon maintaining adequate petroleum supplies. To guarantee this, we may have to pay a little more for the gasoline that runs our cars. Falling prey to the lure of so-called "bargain" imported petroleum would be worse than short- sighted. It could be suicidal to a freedom - loving nation that lives on energy.

IRS CONSIDERS IT A PRESIDENTIAL 'GIFT'

According to Arthur Blech, President Nixon's tax lawyer, the President may not have to pay any taxes at all on his 1974 income, or very little in taxes.

The reason is that, although Mr. Nixon has agreed to pay the entire IRS assessment of some $476,000 on his income for the years 1969 through 1972, the statute of limitations has run out for 1969.

Thus the 1969 part of his payment, which accounts for the bulk of his tax bill, could be considered a gift to the government. The IRS allows a taxpayer to deduct such gifts up to 50 per cent of his adjusted gross income.

This means that if the President earns as much in 1974 as he did in 1973 — $250,000 in salary and expense account plus $18,000 from other sources — he could deduct $134,000.

"The man is entitled to the deduction," says Blech.

In addition to this, the President could write off $32,000 in interest on his unpaid back taxes, $55,000 in interest on mortgages and other loans, $24,000 in property taxes and about $23,000 in fees for his tax lawyers.

So there's a bright side to everything. And that gift of $134,000 would certainly be appreciated by the American public.

SOLZHENITSYN AND THE PRESS

In his interview with CBS newsman Walter Cronkite last week, Russian author and novelist Alexander Solzhenitsyn was sharply critical of the Western press. Upon being exiled from the Soviet Union, Solzhenitsyn insisted, he was continually harassed by newsmen, so much so that he couldn't even step onto his balcony at night without being annoyed by photographers. The journalists had no concern for his welfare or his family's, he said, despite his ordeal in the Soviet Union.

Every profession, he maintained, "must put some restraints on itself ... Honestly, the Western press is really not stopped by anything, not the police, nobody can stop them, keep them off a person, not the government, nothing seems to interfere with them."

It would be possible to admire this determination to extract the truth, he said, "but what is strange is when this Western press gets to Moscow or to Eastern Europe, or even to China, for example. But this is a very extraordinary thing, where the Western press changes completely. There are one or two remarkable exceptions. There are certain correspondents who aren't afraid, but they get sent out of the country, but the great majority of them, the very men who here nothing will stop them, they become there so cautious, so modest and so very careful.

"Here nothing is sacred to them, they go, presidents, military and so forth. But there, if some miserable Bulgarian policemen tells them not to photograph a church, they stop, or the Red Guard, you know, the Red Guard in China, if they hang up some kind of a leaflet and a correspondent comes up to read it, and some wretched little Red Guard tells him not to read it, the correspondent turns and walks away."

HOW TO MAKE A DEPRESSION

From October, 1929, until January, 1942, the United States suffered what has come to be known as the Great Depression. We are looking right down the throat of another one. Some experts say that the Depression really did not get going good until 1932 or 1933; also the mythology of the leftists tried to credit federal intervention by the "New Deal" with "saving" us from the Depression in 1934 or 1936 or some such early date.

The fact is that there was more unemployment on the average in 1940 than there was in 1930 and more in 1938 than in 1936. This despite the fact that the U.S. became the "arsenal of democracy" to supply munitions to enemies of Nazi Germany and the Axis powers and to prepare ourselves for war -- too little and too late to prevent the Pearl Harbor disaster.

Leftist legislators and entrenched bureaucrats are driving headlong toward the same kind of economic disaster that hit the world in the Twenties. Inflation, trade curbs and crippling of business and capital, brought on by foolish policies of most world governments during and after the First World War, set the stage for the Depression and World War II.

Unfair and biased assaults, disguised as news and "documentaries" by the national media, especially network TV, almost have made recession a certainty and a depression likely. Not even during the days of the rush by socialists to posts of power in Washington in the early days of the New Deal was the business climate so hostile and oppressive. If good working people are to head off this disaster and save their jobs and incomes, they will have to save the dollar and the tens of thousands of good businesses, large and small, which provide the jobs, necessities and luxuries on which we all depend. ZIEGLER AND DISNEYLAND

WASHINGTON — The big question everyone in Washington is asking this week is, "If for some reason President Nixon has to leave office, will Ron Ziegler be able to get his job back at Disneyland?

The consensus among most Ziegler- watchers is that he will. One watcher who asked not to be mentioned by name because he still has relatives in Orange County, Calif., told me, "I've been watching Ziegler now for five years, and as far as I'm concerned he never left Disneyland. Ron is a born believer in fantasy and he knows how to treat everyone like children. The very virtues that made him one of the best guides at Disneyland are now paying off for him as spokesman for the President of the United States."

"But wouldn't the Disney people be hesitant about rehiring someone who worked in the White House?"

The Ziegler- watcher shook his head. "Ron was never involved with Watergate. He's clean as a hound's tooth. You want to know why?"

"Sure," I said.

"Because they didn't trust him. They were afraid if they told him anything, he'd spill it. Everyone else in the White House apparently knew what the hell was going on except Ziegler. They treated him like a dum-dum and now they're all going to jail, and Ron has the last laugh."

"I've never seen Ron laugh," I said.

"It was just a figure of speech," my friend replied. "Do you realize that next to Al Haig, the President depends more on Ziegler than any other person in his Administration?"

"Why is that?"

"You mean Ziegler's not putting us on when he says now that we have all the facts the only conclusion we can arrive at is that the President knew nothing about the coverup?"

"In his heart he really believes it."

"How could he?" I asked.

"Because he worked at Disneyland. Anyone who believes in Mickey Mouse, Snow White and Donald Duck is going to believe Mr. Nixon's story. You can say what you want to about Ron, but he does have a lot of faith."

"Does he believe in the Easter Bunny?"

"I don't think the Easter bunny was a Walt Disney creation," he replied.

"You know, sometimes when I watch Ziegler on television, I get the feeling he isn't telling the whole truth ... that he's making things sound better than they really are," I said.

"And where do you think he learned that?" my friend asked.

"Disneyland?"

"Where else? Disney created a world of make-believe and illusion. When Ron moved to Washington he just took that world with him."

"You seem to have a grudging admiration for Ziegler," I said.

"I do. When Ron first started in his job he didn't know very much, and he said whatever they told him to. But now he's adding his own fantasies to Watergate and they are as good as any being put out in this country."

"So you think that no matter what happens to President Nixon, Ziegler won't have to worry abouta job."

"I know it," my friend replied.

"How can you be so sure?"

"No one knows this, but Ziegler never quit his job at Disneyland. He just took a leave of absence."

Finding the Father: 'Missing' Parents Cost Nation $1.5 Billion A Year in Welfare Payments.

WASHINGTON — Who are the villains? Are they the "missing" fathers, deserters of children, abandoners of wives, mulcters of taxpayers' money? Or are they the prosecutors, the inspectors, the social service sleuths who track down the disappearing parents, 1.3 million of whom now cost city, state and federal governments $1.5 billion a year?

Not so simple, the answer. Depends on whom you ask. Welfare caseworkers, who identify with their "clients," charge it's sociologically cruel to track down the absent parent. These class- conscious welfare staffers are among the first to hack the national budget to pieces -- too much for arms, too much for the farmers, too much for guaranteed loans.

There is such a clamor that the voice of the taxpayer is lost -- though no less an authority than U.S. Commissioner of Welfare Robert Carleson tells me that the huge cost of missing fathers who throw their children and women on the relief rolls has burdened this country for over a decade. Simple arithmetic shows this to total far more than $10 billion.

Now, for the first time, Cap Weinberger's Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) has offered funds to the states to get their missing men. Is this cruel? Well, New York state welfare inspector general George Berlinger says, hell no.

"We've gone in despite the criticism of the local welfare department caseworkers," reveals Berlinger, a highly respected retired philanthropist who swung into action some years ago at the request of the then- governor, Nelson Rockefeller. "We found thousands of missing fathers right there in the home of the welfare wives and children.

Often the missing fathers were doing right well, reports Berlinger. A significant number of them were earning $10,000 a year and more.

Berlinger used a simple technique. His men went to the state tax department. They did not audit, nor examine the return of the missing parent whose dependents were on welfare. The investigators merely sought the identity of the absent fathers' employers. Also they noted how many dependents the deserter was claiming as a tax deduction. Berlinger reports that often the supposedly itinerant father was taking deductions for the family he had allegedly deserted.

Berlinger checked our Social Security numbers, unemployment insurance, workmen's compensation records and motor vehicle registration. Oh, yes, the fleeing father often rode comfortably in a good car.

Use of these techniques now is being urged on other states by the HEW administrators. There also is the action pattern set by Commissioner Carleson when he was head of the California welfare department.

Carleson says that he had difficulty, at first, getting cooperation from the county district attorneys.

Carleson says he could understand this. What district attorney would want to go after missing fathers when there were murder, robbery, street violence and other more headline- making cases to develop?

So Carleson and his colleagues instituted the Support Enforcement Incentive Program. In effect, says he, this would put more money into the county's coffers. It could keep the money it saved by finding the errant parent. Thus, by piling up three and four dollars for every dollar spent, more assistant "D.A.s" could be hired, Carleson adds.

So he, as he describes it, instituted the policy of having every absent father case referred swiftly to the county district attorney. A distraught mother would come in, say her husband, or man, had abandoned her and she wanted welfare cash and other necessaries for herself and her children.

The case would be dispatched to the law enforcement office, often over the head of the caseworker or supervisor. But the practice brought results.

Carleson says he has been, and is, charged with harsh deprivations. How? Well, if you prevent the father from leaving, you prevent the needy family from getting relief, say the critical social workers. If you let him go unhindered so his family can eat on the public's funds, you at least keep the children and women from starvation. Carleson's answer is that his practice kept the family together-- and if it were in need, it received aid.

Of course, not all the 1.3 million missing fathers drive good cars, earn big money or hide in the closet when the caseworker arrives. Many deserters are just rotten. But there are hundreds of thousands who do make a racket of it. So the HEW now will pour money into the search of the errant male, establish his paternity, force him to contribute to his wife and progeny -- and finally give thytaxpayer a break. He has to eat too.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: FBI Probing Klassen

We have reported that Klassen accepted a $22,917.67 consultant's fee from the Martin E. Segal Company, a postal contractor, while he was a member of the Postal Service's policy- making Board of Governors.

Before this promotion to the board, Klassen personally handled as deputy postmaster general a transaction that netted the Segal firm 15 per cent of a half- million- dollar contract.

Again, after Klassen left the board to become postmaster general, the Segal firm was awarded another large contract to do a life insurance study for the Postal Service.

After our story appeared, the FBI assigned agents to determine whether the $22,917.67 which Klassen collected from the Segal firm was an illegal kickback in return for these postal contracts.

We have also documented in a series of columns how Klassen spent postal funds for Christmas gifts, fancy furnishings and other personal extravagances, how he padded the postal payroll with his friends and favored other friends with postal contracts, how he deliberately slowed the mails in 1972 to avoid a rate increase that might have hurt President Nixon's re- election prospects.

We will leave it to the FBI and Justice Department to determine whether these activities were illegal or merely improper.

ZIEGLER'S LIES: Despite all the Watergate lies that have backfired, presidential press secretary Ronald Ziegler still seems incapable of telling the truth about the most minor matters.

From time to time, we publish a catalogue of "Zieglerisms," as we call his official falsehoods. Here is the latest edition:

1. A year ago, we reported that the White House kept a secret blacklist of Republican senators who had displeased President Nixon and who, forthwith, were denied White House invitations and other courtesies.

The White House put out an indignant denial that any such list existed. Now our story has been confirmed by none other than the former White House impresario of dirty tricks, Charles Colson.

On a tape made without his knowledge, Colson said: "A lovely girl ... worked for me and maintained all those lists which were known as the 'opponents lists,' people who would not be invited to the White House."

Those on the "opponents lists," said Colson, were "some guys in the Senate" who had annoyed the White House.

2. Earlier this month, Ziegler twice assured reporters that the phlebitis in President Nixon's left leg had resolved itself and that the President was "fine."

This was contradicted later by both the President's physician, Dr. Walter Tkach, and staff chief Gen. Alexander Haig, who acknowledged that the phlebitis condition is continuing.

Dr. Tkach added that he had warned the President not to go to the Middle East last month, because the blood clot in his leg might become dislodged and endanger his life.

This substantiates our report while the President was in the Middle East that a special medical team had been sent to the Mediterranean as an unprecedented precaution.

"The five- man team," we reported on June 14, "is led by Capt. William J. Fouty, chief of surgery at the Bethesda Naval Hospital, and Dr. Myer Rosenthal, head of the hospital's Intensive Care Unit."

3. We broadcast over the Mutual radio network on June 18 that the United States was preparing to sell police equipment to the Soviet secret police, of all people.

Among the crime- fighting equipment American companies would offer to the KGB, we reported were mobile crime labs, metal detectors, voice identification systems, detection devices to locate explosives and narcotics, electric arcs, anticar- stealing devices, chemicals and gas, equipment for tracing fingerprints and equipment to protect personnel against firearms.

Our report was echoed a month later by Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash. Ziegler immediately denied it. He had spent an entire morning, he said, trying in vain to find out what Jackson was talking about. Perhaps American companies want to sell the Soviets "walkie- talkies or something," suggested Ziegler.

Next day, the story was confirmed and Ziegler was caught in another lie.

WASHINGTON WHIRL: Vice President Gerald Ford has been making hard- sell appeals for $50 to $5,000 for the Senate and House Republican campaign committees. His letter for House candidates is signed "Jerry Ford." The Senate letter is more formal, signed "Gerald R. Ford" ... President Nixon's most aggressive defender, Rabbi Baruch Korff, is no stranger to controversy. In 1966, Korff defended the John Birch Society against attacks by the Jewish anti- defamation league. But Korff told us he has now had "second thoughts" about the Birchers, "because they want the President impeached" ... The House Ethics Committee, which has been in existence since early 1967, got around to issuing its "Advisory Opinion No. 3" last month. In other words, the committee has felt compelled to issue formal ethical advice less than once every two years.

Ann Landers

Reader doesn't like homos; won't try it 'their way'

Dear Ann Landers: May I respond to the homosexual's letter in which he suggests there is something missing -- or even peculiar -- about heterosexuality?

I have always believed that the purpose of life is not sex, but rather, the purpose of sex is life. Since homosexuality cannot produce life, it somehow seems anti- nature. It reduces sex to an act of pleasure, with no chance of becoming anything higher.

Since no civilization with pleasure as its goal can survive, I believe homosexuality cannot be a part of The Grand Design. I view it as an abnormality. Furthermore, I resent it when homosexuals suggest there is something strange about me because I haven't tried it "their way." Comment, please, -- S.F.

Dear S.F.: I, for one, am fed up to the teeth with articles on unisex, omnisex, pansexual, transsexual, homosexual and bisexual confessions staring at me from the pages of every newspaper and magazine I pick up these days. I'm beginning to feel like a closet heterosexual.

I respect the right of all the aforementioned groups to do their own thing, but now it appears that they want to hang the label "inhibited" or "chicken" on those of us who aren't interested in experimenting in order that we might "speak intelligently" on the subject.

The next person who says to me, "If you haven't tried it, don't knock it," is going to get a knock in the head with the heaviest object I can lay my hands on.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 17- year- old high school student who is sort of messed up. I know darned well you aren't a magician and that you can't straighten out this mess I've made of my life, so why am I writing to you? Because I don't have to look you in the eye. Also, you won't blab it around because you don't know me. And you don't know anyone who does.

Will you please tell me how a 17- year- old kid can get professional help without telling his parents? They'll want to know what's bugging me and I'm not about to play true confessions. Besides, getting professional help is an admission that you are weak, or nutty, or that you can't handle your own life.

If I went to a clinic, would I just walk up the the front desk and say, "I'm wigged out"? Please tell me, first, how do I know I need professional help, and then tell me, how do I go about getting it? -- S.L.M.

Dear S.L.M.: Seeking professional help is not an admission that you are nuts. On the contray. The real dingbats think they are fine and dandy, and everybody else is nuts.

There are various degrees of mental illness and a person needn't be a basket case before he decides he should talk things over with a professional. If you feel very sad, unloved, and think nobody likes you, you need help. Also, the inability to express your real feelings, control your anger, or have fun "like other kids" are symptoms. If you're on drugs you are really sick.

The first step is to talk to your school counselor. If you need intensive therapy, it will be recommended and you will be told where to go to get it. Simply tell your parents you are depressed, and need outside help. No other details are necessary. There's not a person in this world who couldn't profit from counseling at some time during his life.

Going to a wedding? Giving one? Or standing up in one? Even if you're already married Ann Landers's completely new "The Bride's Guide" will answer questions about today's weddings.

Couple exchange vows in double-ring ceremony

Miss Deborah Heacox and Gary McKown were united in marriage at 7 p.m. June 29 at Calvary Assembly of God Church. The Rev. T. A. McDonough officiated at the double- ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eual Heacox, 925 Lake St., and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leo McKown of Route Two.

The altar was decorated with four matching brass candelabras holding seven tapers each. Candlelighters were Miss Paula Culbertson, cousin of the bride, and Miss Pam McKown, sister of the groom.

Aisles were trimmed with blue and white tissue flowers on a background of net, and each flower was tied with a blue ribbon.

Mrs. Glenn McClellan presented nuptial selections at the organ, and Joel Allen sang, "One Hand, One Heart", "With These Hands" and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a formal-length gown. The bodice featured a bib effect with a fluted neckline and long fitted sleeves with fluting on the cuffs. Tiny self- covered buttons accented the lace bib. The A-line skirt was adorned with several rose lace appliques.

The bride's chapel- length mantilla was edged in white lace and was held secure by a Juliet cap of the same lace trim. She carried a bouquet of white and blue daisies and carnations with baby's breath and long blue and white streamers.

Miss Sharon Beaird served as maid of honor, and Mrs. Sherrie Morris was bridesmaid. The bride's attendants and candlelighters wore identical gowns. All featured empire waistlines and were made of turquoise flocked organza with a cotton underlay. The A-line dresses featured sheer, puffed sleeves and stand- up collars. The girls wore wide-brimmed picture hats trimmed with lace and a bow and turquioise streamers. Their bouquets included blue, white and yellow daisies and baby's breath tied with long streamers.

Harvey Hull was best man, and Larry Lynxwiler was groomsmen. Ushers were Jerry Hull and Gale Wisdom.

Mrs. John Heacox, sister-in- law of the bride, presided at the guestbook.

Guests were served at the reception from a three- tiered wedding cake which was topped by the traditional miniature bride and groom. Miss Renard, Dale True exchange vows in Arkansas

PIGGOTT, Ark. — The Church of God was the setting June 28 for the candlelight wedding of Faith Renard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Renard of Pollard, and Dale True, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Lee J. True of Sikeston, Mo.

The father of the groom performed the double- ring ceremony.

Mrs. Jim Wood of Piggott was pianist, and Miss Elaine Austin of Poplar Bluff, Mo., sang, "You Make Me Feel Brand New" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was escorted down the aisle by her father and given in marriage by her parents.

She wore a formal- length gown of bridal satin accented in daisy appliqued lace at the high neckline, on the bib front and at the end of the long sheer sleeves. The daisy lace also extended above the hemline and on to the gown's train. She wore an elbow-length veil of sheer illusion which was held secure by a Juliet- style lace cap. The bride carried a bouquet of mixed summer flowers and greenery.

Miss Beverly Harris of Piggott was maid of honor. Miss Annita Johnson, also of Piggott, was the bridesmaid. The flower girl was Leah Kay True of Sikeston, sister of the groom. They wore identical, mint green, floor-length dresses with long sleeves trimmed in deep pink velvet ribbons and wide-brimmed picture hats.

Best man was Terry True of Sikeston, brother of the groom. Groomsman was Alan Morris of Piggott. They wore Prince Edward black tuxedos with raspberry ruffled shirts.

Jim Wood and Mike Throgmorton of Piggott were ushers and also served as candlelighters.

Mrs. True chose a navy blue and white floor- length dress with white accessories. She also wore a corsage of cymbidium orchids.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church fellowship hall. The bride's table was decorated with a three- tiered wedding cake, silver punch bowl and service and an arrangement of daisies and pompons.

A short honeymoon trip followed the ceremony. The couple now lives at 816 Illinois Ave., Cape Girardeau, Mo.

Sikeston eliminated

Sikeston became the first team to be eliminated from the Sr. Babe Ruth state baseball tournament at VFW stadium Wednesday night, bowing to defending state and regional champ, Sugar Creek, 2-1 in 11 innings. Jefferson City remained unbeaten in the event with a come from behind 6-3 victory over Jackson.

Dave Williams had a no hitter going for Jackson until the seventh inning when Jefferson City charged from a 3-2 deficit with a four run seventh inning and collected its one two hits. Williams fanned nine and walked one.

Jackson took a 2-0 lead in the fourth and went ahead in the last of the sixth after Jeff City had tied the mark in the top of the frame. But four errors played a key role in the Jackson defeat.

Mike Moore and Donnie Taylor tied up in a pitching duel that wasn't decided until the 11th inning when Sugar Creek sent the winning run home on an infield hit.

Moore mowed down 20 Sikeston batsmen on strikeouts and issued two walks while Taylor managed three fans and gave up nine free passes.

Bill Schatzley was the only hitter of the game with more than one hit was both teams were limited to four safties. Schatzley had two singles. Charlie Miller connected for the games only extra base knock, a double.

Tournament play resumes at 7 p.m. tonight with Jackson battling Sugar Creek. The winner goes against Jefferson City at 9 p.m. A Jeff City win would end the tourney, but a loss would send the event into a Friday night championship showdown.

4-games at Chaffee

CHAFFEE — Carthage and Chaffee held the distinction of being the only undefeated team among the six teams competiting in the Jr. Babe Ruth state tournament at Harmon field after recording wins Wednesday evening. Carthage started the night off with a 4-1 win over Booneville and Chaffee followed with a 4-0 triumph over Sikeston.

Skeeter Allan hammered a first inning home run for Carthage and doubled home a pair of others, scored two and posted a two for four figure at the plate to lead the teams five hit barrage.

Terry Peterson scattered six hits to Booneville and was aided in his effort by a tight defense which once got him out of a no out, bases loaded affair.

Sikeston's generally potent bats were silenced by slinder Lindy Duncan, who limited the stars to only two hits and held them scoreless through seven frames.

Chaffee broke open a scoreless deadlock with three runs in the third and jumped on Larry Jackson for 11 hits in the game.

Duncan, Wachter, Jim McGuire and Estes had two hits each for the winning host. Kiefer and Whitaker slammed doubles.

Sikeston's lone hits came off the bats of Russell Deal and Leible.

Tournament action resumed at 1 p.m. today when Kirksville squared off against Sikeston in a losers bracket game and first game of a four game schedule.

Booneville was to have played Ft. Leonardwood at 3 p.m. Carthage will collide with Chaffee at 7 p.m. and the two afternoon winners will meet at 9 p.m.

PITTSBURGH — Clyde King was named interim manager of the Atlanta Braves, replacing Eddie Mathews, who was fired last Sunday.

10 weeks remain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Now that the All-Star Game is history, all the stars can get back to the business of settling the four division races in the remaining 10 weeks of the baseball season.

That's just what they will start to do today as the major leagues resume where they left off Sunday with two new managers and a whopping 17-game schedule that includes five twilight-night doubleheaders.

Jim Marshall debuts as manager of the Chicago Cubs when they entertain the Philadelphia Phillies in an afternoon contest. Marshall replaces Whitey Lockman, who resigned Wednesday to devote full time to his other duties as vice president in charge of player development.

Under the lights in Atlanta, Clyde King takes over as manager of the Braves against the San Diego Padres. King once managed the San Francisco Giants and has been a special assistant to Eddie Robinson, vice president of the Braves, for two years.

Marshall, who managed for six seasons in the Cubs' farm system, was a Cub coach this year and was Lockman's own choice as his successor. Lockman was in his second full season after succeeding Leo Durocher in mid-1972.

The Cubs, who traded away a number of veteran stars last winter, have a 41-52 record and are fifth in the National League's East Division, seven games out of first place and just one-half game out of the cellar.

Marshall was given a contract until the end of the season.

King' contract also is until the end of the season. Robinson said that if a change is made next year, "Hank Aaron would be considered."

Aaron, who has often said he doesn't want to manage, expressed resentment at the All Star Game in Pittsburgh Tuesday night that the Braves had summarily ruled him out along with his brother, Tommie Aaron, manager of the Braves' Savannah, Ga., team in the Southern League.

The Braves are fourth in the NL West, 14 games behind the Los Angeles Dodgers, who have a 5½-game lead over Cincinnati. Oakland leads the American League West by five games over the Chicago White Sox.

The six teams in the AL East are separated by just five games, with Boston leading Baltimore by one-half game.

TO CITIZENS OF MISSISSIPPI COUNTY

I am writing this letter to the citizens of the First District, Mississippi County.

Early in 1973 the three judges of the County Court discussed and agreed on a procedure relative to resurfacing roads in Mississippi County. It was agreed that the work would be done on a first- come first-served basis to be determined by the date of deposit of money by the landowner.

This procedure was deemed necessary because there are a number of roads in the county needing resurfacing and obviously, with limited resources and personnel, work on all of them can not be done at the same time.

However, this procedure has not been followed. At the time Mr. Shelby Dick was hired, I was told by Judges Winchester and Hall that Mr. Dick would be in full charge and that itonly takes two judges to run the County Court. Since that time various landowners have made their deposits, yet others who made deposits at a later date have gotten their roads resurfaced, while in at least one instance the landowner's money has been on deposit for nearly two years and no work has been done.

I realize this is an election year and that my fellow judges have opponents. Yet, it is my belief that the agreed upon procedure is fair to all and should be followed. As the matter is now handled, it is not fair to me or to the people of the First District.

I just want people to know that under present conditions my hands are tied.

Very truly yours,

Lindsay Hurley
Judge of the County Court

Mississippi County

Ryan, Bridger in finals

With a number one rating Ryan bested third seeded Nunnelee 12-2 and second seeded Bridger clipped fifth ranked Fabic 8-7 in a pair of American League tournament matches Wednesday night.

Long starred for Ryan as he pitched a no-hitter in the one- sided match. Green led the hitting attack and was four for four at the plate while Bickford collected two runs on three hits. Howard took the loss, allowing 14 hits and 12 runs in four innings of play.

McKinney collected three of Bridger's runs and won the mound for Bridger in other actions. Williams took the loss, allowing Bridger to drive in eight runs on their five hits.

Championship play begins tonight at 8:15 when Ryan meets Bridger and the third place decision will be made at 6:30 as Fabick matched Nunnelee. Box scores:

Memphis bombed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jacksonville can't kick ... not enough, anyway.

And Gary Davidson certainly can't. Not after the World Football League commissioner saw his "action and entertainment" dream explode into reality in football-mad Birmingham.

The Sharks set a WFL record Wednesday night—not a hard feat considering the league's only a few weeks old—when they kicked four field goals in the first half of their game against Southern California.

Grant Guthrie booted threepointers of 23, 29, 27 and 42 yards. It turned out to be three points too few—or perhaps the game turned out to be seven seconds too long for Jacksonville.

On the last play of the game, rookie quarterback Tony Adams from Utah State heaved a 40-yard touchdown pass to Dave Williams and the Sun came up shining with a 22-19 victory that shocked the 46,780 Sharks fans.

In Wednesday night's other WFL games, the Birmingham Americans clobbered Memphis 58-33, the Chicago Fire turned back Portland 29-22 and the Florida Blazers beat Houston 15-3. The New York Stars are in Philadelphia tonight for the WFL's nationally televised game against the Bell.

American 58, Southmen 33

As a WFL-record 61,319 fans at Legion Field shrieked their approval, veteran George Mira and rookie Matthew Reed of Grambling decimated Memphis' secondary with 378 aerial yards and five touchdown passes—three to Alfred Jenkins—to keep the Americans unbeaten.

Mira threw 38 and 74-yard scoring strikes to Jenkins and one to Dennis Homan for 12 yards. In the third period, Mira bowed out with a sprained ankle.

Fire 29, Storm 22

Virgil Carter of the Fire had a hot night in the air, too. He threw touchdown passes of 50 yards to Mark Keller, one yard to Cyril Pinder and 69 yards to James Scott to as Chicago took advantage of Storm mistakes to stay tied with Birmingham atop the Central Division.

"Damn, 22 points should be enough to win in football," fumed Portland Coach Dick Coury. "We gave up some cheap touchdowns. Anytime you make the mistakes we did and give up the big touchdowns, you can't win."

Blazers 15, Texans 3

Rookie running back Tommy Reamon rambled for 73 yards, 15 of them good for a touchdown, and caught an actionpoint pass in the Blazers' easy victory over the Texans, whose only points came on a 47-yard Charlie Durkee field goal.

Oran streaks

ORAN — Oran continued to win in the SEMO softball league by running over the New Hamburg Blues 12-5 Wednesday night.

Don Robert picked up the win as Oran backed his pitching with 12 hits including a homerun by Lindon Duncan. Duncan collected three hits in the game.

Oran is 14-1 for the season.

"FISH TALK"
By Ray May

FISHING — A FAMILY AFFAIR

Remember when the weatherman said, "Continued fair and mild through Sunday ...."? The yard was knee deep in grass, it was the kid's birthday and your wife said she'd change her address permanently if you took one step towards your tackle box. Remember how that old urge took hold and you drove like a madman to the lake? And after a $25 argument with the highway patrol, how you finally got on the water just as the wind came roaring in and the clouds burst loose with that record rain for that time of year? And how you were bailing like crazy when your motor conked out? That was back when you were married, remember?

Alas, even in this age of medical miracles, no one has yet discovered a cure for being "fish bit"! But there is a way to avoid this fellow's predicament. Next time, take her with you — make it a family affair.

Bond wants budget requests on priority basis

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Prefacing the state budget preparation manual with a comment about Missouri's "gloomy financial picture," Gov. Christopher S. Bond has called on the 14 department directors to list budget requests on a priority basis.

"This is to ensure that the state meets the needs of crucial programs in all areas," said Robert L. James, commissioner of administration. "The state's fiscal picture is tight and gloomy. There will not be enough funds in fiscal year 1976 for across-the-board program increases. That is why we have to know the priorities."

The other major point in the manual, sent out to the directors to aid them in budget preparations for next year, is a recommendation that each department include a seven per cent across-the-board pay hike for employes as "an attempt to keep state salaries in line with inflation."

In his message to the directors, Bond said he had no intention of recommending increases in program levels unless service improvements and a need for such improvements can be clearly made.

James emphasized that the salary increase recommendation was only a proposal and would go through the same budget consideration process as all other requests.

He noted, however, that while state workers have received five per cent pay boosts in the last two years, those cost-of-living increases have failed to keep pace with inflation.

Bond said reorganization of the executive branch should help consolidate some departmental activities and free funds for other uses, but neither he nor James estimated the amount of money that could be saved.

What's the law?

The case of the shaky hand

By: JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Sarah was so old she remembered when a bureau was merely a piece of furniture. In fact, at 90 years of age, she was so frail that if anyone sneezed in her presence, she felt contrained to hold on to something for fear of being blown away.

Consequently, when she signed her will at that ripe old age, her lawyer found it necessary to take her by the hand and physically guide her shaky hand through the maneuvers of her signature.

Shortly thereafter, Sarah tired and expired. When her will was presented in court to be carried out, however, several of her disinherited relatives attacked its validity hoping to "knock it out" and share in Sarah's estate.

"To be valid," they argued in court, "a will must be signed. And, Sarah never signed her will. Her lawyer did. He merely used Sarah's hand as a penholder."

"I did what I did," was the attorney's answer, "because it was necessary. Sarah was too weak to sign her name by herself, and, even if she didn't completely sign it physically, she certainly signed it spiritually."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you "knock out" Sarah's will as not having been signed by her?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that where a person intends to sign a will and is not forced to do so, it is not invalidated because her attorney helps her to sign her name.

The United States pours more toxic wastes into rivers and oceans per citizen than Asia does for each 1,000 of its people. Americans create more industrial waste and use more energy and use more of the earth's mineral and other resources than any other country. The more industrailzied a nation becomes, and the higher man's standards of living becomes, the more he pollutes his only water supply.

You'll be much less of a "Pollution Partisan" by using refined water. Here's why! Only ¼ cup soap is needed per wash load, and nothing more. No harsh cleaning aids or detergents needed. Not only helps in the famly wash to cut costs, but is gentle and saves in replacement costs too. Makes your dishes and glassware sparkle. Refined water doesn't cost, it saves! It is not what you put in the water, but what you take out that counts! Call Braswell.

Ag committee may subpoena milk data

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A joint legislative committee on agriculture has decided to use its subpoena power, if necessary, to obtain information on milk price markups.

Shortly after the meeting Wednesday, the chairman delivered a letter to agriculture director James Boillot's office, requesting information filed by the middlemen, which Boillot, supported by an attorney general's opinion, has refused to make public.

The letter by Chairman D. R. Osbourn, D-Monroe City, a farmer, said the committee also would use its subpoena power if necessary, to obtain transcripts of testimony at recent Department of Agriculture milk hearings in Springfield.

Osbourn said he would like to have the information by July 31. The committee will meet again in Jefferson City Aug. 13.

The resolution was offered by state Sen. Paul Bradshaw, R-Springfield, a lawyer, and seconded by Rep. W. E. Blackwell, D-Hermann, a rancher.

Boillot has said the information is confidential and would decrease competition by dairies and milk processors if it is made public. Boillot was in northern Missouri on a tour with Gov. Christopher S. Bond.

Bradshaw led a move last spring in the Senate to pass a resolution saying Boillot's action violated the open meetings law.

"The consumer is paying too high a price and we know the farmer is getting just enough," Bradshaw said.

He said that in Springfield, the state's leading milk producing area, there has been 44-cent markups on a half gallon of milk.

Osbourn said the information would assist the committee in deciding whether to change Missouri's law, which says retailers and processors cannot sell below cost, to have a maximum price or a maximum markup.

The committee instructed the committee on legislative research to research the California and Louisiana laws which regulate milk prices.

Boillot recently ordered dairy processors to stop renting or leasing equipment to retail outlets. At the Springfield hearing, witnesses said at least two processors were involved with selected retailers in kickbacks, loans, special credit terms and equipment deals.

"It seems a mistake in priorities to open up the fairgrounds and close the public records," Bradshaw remarked.

He referred to a Senate committee investigation, to begin Friday, into the rock music festival last weekend at the state fairgrounds in Sedalia.

Boillot has said, "I'm responsible."

The hit- and- run accident occurred at 6:20 p.m. Tuesday on Highway 158 about a mile west of Harviell when a motorcycle ridden by Randy Leon Desgranges, 15, drove from a field onto the road and was struck in the side by a maroon car which left the scene.

A highway patrol spokesman said today that Newby was arrested Wednesday by Trooper R. W. Jones in Poplar Bluff and was placed in the Butler County jail.

The boy was taken to Doctors Hospital, where his leg was amputated.

authorities claimed that he was supposed to be in the hospital.

New Madrid County sheriff W. L. "Cowboy" Ramsey claimed that the hospital excuse given to Pemiscot County authorities upon their inquiry was a coverup for Butler, who was supposedly in that county doing undercover work for the sheriff trying to uncover leads on burglaries that had taken place in New Madrid County.

"He really does have a blood ailment that he has checked every two weeks," Ramsey said. "Butler has been working as a trusty and doing undercover work for our department," Ramsey reported.

Butler was arrested July 17 by Missouri State Highway Patrolman Joe Moore and Pemiscot County Deputy Sheriff Morris Malin and placed in the Pemiscot County jail where he remained until Monday. At that time, New Madrid County authorities picked him up for return to New Madrid County jail.

Monday Butler was scheduled to appear in Pemiscot County Magistrate Court on the driving while intoxicated charge, but his case was continued when he failed to appear.

Hazel said today that charges will be filed against Butler for confidence games relating to the passing of a check on the Idle Hour Inn signed by himself and made out to him. He reportedly had two other checks in his possession when arrested. The check was $98.09 and was cashed by Bruce's Big Star.

Butler is to appear Sept. 11 in New Madrid County Circuit Court on the charge of possession of stolen property.

Cars obstruct view at intersection

House panel resumes debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee resumed today its landmark debate on the impeachment of President Nixon, hearing first from a Republican who declared Nixon "is entitled to a presumption of innocence."

The assertion from Rep. Charles E. Wiggins of California came despite Tuesday's claim from another GOP defender of the President that a committee decision against Nixon is assured.

Wiggins has frequently been characterized as Nixon's most articulate defender on the committee, but he told the committee's second session of formal debate that "I wince" at that label because he believes simply that the case should be decided according to law.

If fairness is not the overriding factor in the epic proceedings, said Wiggins, "we would be doing a greater violence to the Constitution than any misconduct alleged of Richard Nixon."

Wiggins was the first of 27 committee members remaining to make opening statements in the debate on a proposed two-article recommendation of impeachment.

If the committee approves impeachment in a vote expected this weekend, then the full House of Representatives must decide whether to send the matter on to the Senate for trial.

Wiggins told his colleagues it was "not too late for me to challenge" whether they should sit in the proceeding if they have formed a preconceived notion on Nixon's guilt or innocence.

But despite his challenge, the committee was believed likely to vote impeachment, though the margin of such a vote remains to be determined.

The committee opened its historic debate Wednesday night before a nationwide television and radio audience that heard Rep. Charles W. Sandman Jr., R-N.J., claim "There are sufficient votes here for an impeachment resolution.

"Everyone knows that. There is no use kidding ourselves about it," he said.

Sandman, who lined up against impeachment, was one of 11 committee members who gave their views in a televised presentation of the historic proceedings.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr.'s schedule for the 38-member committee calls for concluding general debate tonight and moving onto actual consideration of articles of impeachment Friday. That schedule suffered a slight setback last night when a bomb scare forced a 47-minute delay.

The threat, telephoned to the Capitol switchboard, forced Rodino to empty the packed room while police searched fruitlessly for a bomb. Later, after Rodino had recessed the proceedings for the night and the hearing room had almost emptied, a second bomb threat was received. Again nothing was found.

The most explosive item in the room was a resolution offered by Rep. Harold D. Donohue, D-Mass., calling for Nixon's impeachment on two broad articles, one based on the Watergate cover-up, the other charging him with abusing his powers of office.

The proposed articles, still subject to refinements, were drafted after day-long negotiations between pro-impeachment Democrats and seven fence-sitting members—four Republicans and three Southern Democrats.

Neither side would say publicly that the articles as presented represent an agreement, but one participant in the negotiations said he expects the seven undecided members to support at least one of them. That would produce a 26-12 vote in favor of impeachment.

The Watergate article accuses Nixon of acting "directly and personally and through his close subordinates and agents" to obstruct the investigation of the Watergate break-in.

Man tries to shoot girlfriend

HAYWOOD CITY — Columbus Nathaniel Jefferson, 44, of Haywood City was arrested here early today for allegedly attempting to shoot Louise Wiley of Crowder with a 12 gauge shotgun.

Scott County Deputy Sheriff Bud Jones said the woman is Jefferson's girl friend and that the shooting followed a quarrel.

Jefferson allegedly fired a shotgun twice through two bedroom windows in the Wiley house, located west of Crowder. The incident reportedly occurred about 6 a.m. Sunday.

The first blast knocked over a fan near the bed. The second shot allegedly hit the bed where the Wiley woman had been sleeping. She had jumped out of bed after the first shot.

Jefferson was taken to the Scott County jail. Bond had not been set this morning.

Public heeds city plea; water consumption drops

Water comsumption in Sikeston has dropped 200,000 gallons a day since Sikeston Light and Water Co. officials asked residents to conserve water, Dick Inman, director of the Board of Municipal Utilities said today.

Inman said he checked Wednesday morning and found only 2,800,000 gallons had been used Tuesday, compared with an average of 3,040,000 gallons a day during the rest of the month.

Water used dropped sufficiently Tuesday night for the city to refill its 2.2-million gallon water storage facility. The city had been using storage water to meet the demand and had been unable to refill it for some time.

Sikeston is in good shape if people continue to conserve water, Inman said.

The city's water system came under strain because of the current long dry spell that increased demand substantially.

No shortage exists in available water, but the capacity of the water filtration plant on South Ingram Street is not sufficient to handle the heavy burden being placed on it, even though an additional work crew was added to work nights.

The old water filtration plant, closed in 1964, is being renovated and will add 750,000 gallons of filtering capacity when it is turned on in late August.

But Inman said the renovation will not solve the long- range problem of keeping up with Sikeston's rapid growth. Voters will be asked in the fall to approve a $500,000 bond issue for a new plant to be operational next summer.

The proposed plant would be expandable so additional filtration units could be added to handle increased demand.

2 men held for robbery

NEW MADRID — James Lloyd Dupree, 39, of Florence, Ala., and Donald Jeral Sullivan, 24, of Okeechobee, Fla., were held in the New Madrid County jail today after they allegedly robbed a Utah man in the Hickory Village Restaurant parking lot at Portageville Wednesday night.

The two were apprehended about 11:30 p.m. on Interstate 55 near the Interstate 57 interchange at the south edge of Sikeston by Cpl. Melvin Moyers and Trooper Mike Robertson of the highway patrol.

A highway patrol spokesman said today two men drove up to Carl Dean Wopsock — a Ute Indian from a reservation in Utah — at Hickory Village and asked him for $2. When Wopsock pulled out his billfold and handed them the $2, they pushed him down and took the billfold which contained from $50 to $100, then drove off and headed north on I-55.

DWI arrest blows New Madrid trusty's cover

CARUTHERSVILLE — Dwight Butler — a former Mississippi and Missouri state prison convict reportedly serving as an undercover agent for the New Madrid County sheriff's department while being held by the county for parole violations in both states and a county charge — was arrested in Pemiscot County July 17 for driving while intoxicated.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Mike Hazel said today that charges of fraud through the use of a check would be filed against Butler.

Butler, who has served time in the Missouri State Penitentiary and was paroled Aug. 16, 1973, from the Mississippi state prison, had his parole revoked by both states March 8, 1974 after being charged with burglary and stealing in Stoddard County. He also was charged with possession of stolen property March 15 in New Madrid County.

The 31- year - old ex-convict was sentenced to the Missouri State Penitentiary Feb. 22, 1961, and was returned Feb. 4, 1966 afer being convicted of burglary and drawing sentences of four and three year, respectively.

In Mississippi, he was sentenced to three years for burglary on Oct. 30, 1972, and was paroled Aug. 16, 1973.

Butler is presently free on bond from Stoddard County where he was charged with burglary and stealing in relation to a theft at Shipman's Rebel Market in Dexter. He posted $2,500 bond, and his trial has been postponed numerous times. He is now scheduled to appear Aug. 20. His bond was raised to $15,000 on April 17 when he failed to appear in court. It was reduced to $2,500 again when he did show up and entered a not guilty plea.

New Madrid County has had custody of Butler since his release from Stoddard County. He is under $1,000 bond for the possession of stolen property charge.

ALCOHOLISM
IN AMERICA

The newly released Federal report on alcohol and health is full of bad news for America: heavy drinkers are much more likely to get cancer of the mouth or throat; alcohol costs the country more than $25 billion annually in the form of lost work, auto accidents and medical bills; and heavy drinking is alarmingly on the rise among teenagers.

Citing a random sample of 10,000 junior and senior high school students — the largest sample ever taken — the report says both the frequency of drinking and the amount consumed has skyrocketed during the past three years, from 1970 to 1973. Usage among boys increased from 50 to 77 per cent; among girls from 38 to 67 per cent.

Dr. Morris E. Chafetz, Director of the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism which released the report, noted that some nations in which the populations use alcohol widely do not experience similar alcoholic problems. "In these societies, alcohol is typically consumed under clear, well- defined guidelines, in a family or relaxed social environment that stands in sharp contrast to ... the American bar, or the tense atmosphere of the American cocktail party. Above all, drunkenness is condemned, and drunk behavior is not tolerated.

"On the other hand, our American society has persistently used alcohol as a humorous condition to be condoned instead of a serious state of sickness to be avoided."

Dr. Chafetz said a person may know that he or she has a serious problem with alcohol if that person: has been intoxicated four times in one year, goes to work intoxicated, or does something under the influence of alcohol that he or she wouldn't do without its influence.

We believe Dr. Chafetz and the Institute are on target in their efforts to combat this critical American problem. In addition to calling for expanded and innovative ways to care for the casualties of the disease, Dr. Chafetz concludes that we must establish "socially responsible guidelines" to help our citizens avoid dangerous drinking practices.

We echo his call for key elements of the nation's private sector — including the liquor, entertainment, education, health, and advertising industries — to plunge into this effort.

NO TIME FOR CUTTING
FEDERAL TAXES

We agree with Sen. Eagleton and many others at Washington who are against a cut in federal taxes this year, saying it would be inflationary.

Not only do we believe that, but we also believe it would be better to cut millions, possibly billions, out of the federal budget, cut some of the aid being given to foreign nations, balance our federal budget, and if possible start paying off some of our high national debt instead of adding to it by reducing taxes, yet keeping right on spending more than we take in.

THIS SIDE OF THE HORIZON

But he saw no goals. In that segment of his life which lay within his vision, he saw no great, gaping spaces which yawned for a man of deeds to come and fill. He saw no mighty rivers to span. He saw no unexplored regions to conquer. He saw no ravening monsters to challenge his prowess. He saw only people, little people, who blocked his view.

So the youth stood aloof. Frustrated and despondent, he sought a sage to whom he made his confession. "I want to do big things — great things!" he said, trembling with passionate zeal, "but I can see and think only of little things — the little comings and goings of the lives of little people. I am surrounded by littleness. Tell me how to train my vision so I can see great purpose in the offing."

The old philosopher smiled an indulgent smile. "Continue to see little things, young man," he said. "Observe them diligently; fill your soul with their littleness, and out of your earnest concern will grow the mighty things which you desire."

Pigeons were once so numerous in the United States that they were a menace to crops, and a constant source of annoyance to farmers. One method of getting rid of them was to catch a pigeon and fasten it to a "call stoll" in the field. When the other pigeons flocked around the decoy, it was easy enough to trap them. From this practice we have derived our expression, "stool pigeon."'

SUICIDAL
BARGAIN

Although it has been estimated that over half of the petroleum resources in this country remain to be discovered, along with some 66 per cent of discoverable gas reserves, the costs of exploration and development will steadily rise as the search goes farther afield and deeper into the Earth. In the meantime, steady pressure has grown for greater importation of allegedly cheaper oil from politically unstable countries in the Middle East. The unpleasant fact is that these import supplies could be cut off at a moment's notice. If that happens, after dwindling incentives have stifled U. S. development, an energy dependent U. S. would no longer be a free agent.

Any executive of a major oil company described the problems in a few words: "When all of the side issues are stripped away, the basic issue is clear: assuring a sufficient supply of energy at acceptable costs for the essential needs of this nation in the future ... If this problem were purely a matter of economics, we would simply draw our supplies from domestic and foreign sources on the basis of efficiency and economy. Unfortunately, however, the political instability of many foreign producing nations raises grave questions about free access to foreign supplies in the future. So our problem really is searching for that delicate balance of domestic and foreign supply that will meet our needs at the lowest costs without endangering our national security."

The life of our country depends upon maintaining adequate petroleum supplies. To guarantee this, we may have to pay a little more for the gasoline that runs our cars. Falling prey to the lure of so-called "bargain" imported petroleum would be worse than short- sighted. It could be suicidal to a freedom - loving nation that lives on energy.

IRS CONSIDERS IT A PRESIDENTIAL
'GIFT'

According to Arthur Blech, President Nixon's tax lawyer, the President may not have to pay any taxes at all on his 1974 income, or very little in taxes.

The reason is that, although Mr. Nixon has agreed to pay the entire IRS assessment of some $476,000 on his income for the years 1969 through 1972, the statute of limitations has run out for 1969.

Thus the 1969 part of his payment, which accounts for the bulk of his tax bill, could be considered a gift to the government. The IRS allows a taxpayer to deduct such gifts up to 50 per cent of his adjusted gross income.

This means that if the President earns as much in 1974 as he did in 1973 — $250,000 in salary and expense account plus $18,000 from other sources — he could deduct $134,000.

"The man is entitled to the deduction," says Blech.

In addition to this, the President could write off $32,000 in interest on his unpaid back taxes, $55,000 in interest on mortgages and other loans, $24,000 in property taxes and about $23,000 in fees for his tax lawyers.

So there's a bright side to everything. And that gift of $134,000 would certainly be appreciated by the American public.

SOLZHENITSYN
AND THE PRESS

In his interview with CBS newsman Walter Cronkite last week, Russian author and novelist Alexander Solzhenitsyn was sharply critical of the Western press. Upon being exiled from the Soviet Union, Solzhenitsyn insisted, he was continually harassed by newsmen, so much so that he couldn't even step onto his balcony at night without being annoyed by photographers. The journalists had no concern for his welfare or his family's, he said, despite his ordeal in the Soviet Union.

Every profession, he maintained, "must put some restraints on itself ... Honestly, the Western press is really not stopped by anything, not the police, nobody can stop them, keep them off a person, not the government, nothing seems to interfere with them."

It would be possible to admire this determination to extract the truth, he said, "but what is strange is when this Western press gets to Moscow or to Eastern Europe, or even to China, for example. But this is a very extraordinary thing, where the Western press changes completely. There are one or two remarkable exceptions. There are certain correspondents who aren't afraid, but they get sent out of the country, but the great majority of them, the very men who here nothing will stop them, they become there so cautious, so modest and so very careful.

"Here nothing is sacred to them, they go, presidents, military and so forth. But there, if some miserable Bulgarian policemen tells them not to photograph a church, they stop, or the Red Guard, you know, the Red Guard in China, if they hang up some kind of a leaflet and a correspondent comes up to read it, and some wretched little Red Guard tells him not to read it, the correspondent turns and walks away."

HOW TO MAKE A DEPRESSION

From October, 1929, until January, 1942, the United States suffered what has come to be known as the Great Depression. We are looking right down the throat of another one. Some experts say that the Depression really did not get going good until 1932 or 1933; also the mythology of the leftists tried to credit federal intervention by the "New Deal" with "saving" us from the Depression in 1934 or 1936 or some such early date.

The fact is that there was more unemployment on the average in 1940 than there was in 1930 and more in 1938 than in 1936. This despite the fact that the U.S. became the "arsenal of democracy" to supply munitions to enemies of Nazi Germany and the Axis powers and to prepare ourselves for war -- too little and too late to prevent the Pearl Harbor disaster.

Leftist legislators and entrenched bureaucrats are driving headlong toward the same kind of economic disaster that hit the world in the Twenties. Inflation, trade curbs and crippling of business and capital, brought on by foolish policies of most world governments during and after the First World War, set the stage for the Depression and World War II.

Unfair and biased assaults, disguised as news and "documentaries" by the national media, especially network TV, almost have made recession a certainty and a depression likely. Not even during the days of the rush by socialists to posts of power in Washington in the early days of the New Deal was the business climate so hostile and oppressive. If good working people are to head off this disaster and save their jobs and incomes, they will have to save the dollar and the tens of thousands of good businesses, large and small, which provide the jobs, necessities and luxuries on which we all depend. Finding the Father: 'Missing' Parents Cost Nation $1.5 Billion A Year in Welfare Payments.

WASHINGTON — Who are the villains? Are they the "missing" fathers, deserters of children, abandoners of wives, mulcters of taxpayers' money? Or are they the prosecutors, the inspectors, the social service sleuths who track down the disappearing parents, 1.3 million of whom now cost city, state and federal governments $1.5 billion a year?

Not so simple, the answer. Depends on whom you ask. Welfare caseworkers, who identify with their "clients," charge it's sociologically cruel to track down the absent parent. These class- conscious welfare staffers are among the first to hack the national budget to pieces -- too much for arms, too much for the farmers, too much for guaranteed loans.

There is such a clamor that the voice of the taxpayer is lost -- though no less an authority than U.S. Commissioner of Welfare Robert Carleson tells me that the huge cost of missing fathers who throw their children and women on the relief rolls has burdened this country for over a decade. Simple arithmetic shows this to total far more than $10 billion.

Now, for the first time, Cap Weinberger's Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) has offered funds to the states to get their missing men. Is this cruel? Well, New York state welfare inspector general George Berlinger says, hell no.

"We've gone in despite the criticism of the local welfare department caseworkers," reveals Berlinger, a highly respected retired philanthropist who swung into action some years ago at the request of the then- governor, Nelson Rockefeller. "We found thousands of missing fathers right there in the home of the welfare wives and children.

Often the missing fathers were doing right well, reports Berlinger. A significant number of them were earning $10,000 a year and more.

Berlinger used a simple technique. His men went to the state tax department. They did not audit, nor examine the return of the missing parent whose dependents were on welfare. The investigators merely sought the identity of the absent fathers' employers. Also they noted how many dependents the deserter was claiming as a tax deduction. Berlinger reports that often the supposedly itinerant father was taking deductions for the family he had allegedly deserted.

Berlinger checked our Social Security numbers, unemployment insurance, workmen's compensation records and motor vehicle registration. Oh, yes, the fleeing father often rode comfortably in a good car.

Use of these techniques now is being urged on other states by the HEW administrators. There also is the action pattern set by Commissioner Carleson when he was head of the California welfare department.

Carleson says that he had difficulty, at first, getting cooperation from the county district attorneys.

Carleson says he could understand this. What district attorney would want to go after missing fathers when there were murder, robbery, street violence and other more headline- making cases to develop?

So Carleson and his colleagues instituted the Support Enforcement Incentive Program. In effect, says he, this would put more money into the county's coffers. It could keep the money it saved by finding the errant parent. Thus, by piling up three and four dollars for every dollar spent, more assistant "D.A.s" could be hired, Carleson adds.

So he, as he describes it, instituted the policy of having every absent father case referred swiftly to the county district attorney. A distraught mother would come in, say her husband, or man, had abandoned her and she wanted welfare cash and other necessaries for herself and her children.

The case would be dispatched to the law enforcement office, often over the head of the caseworker or supervisor. But the practice brought results.

Carleson says he has been, and is, charged with harsh deprivations. How? Well, if you prevent the father from leaving, you prevent the needy family from getting relief, say the critical social workers. If you let him go unhindered so his family can eat on the public's funds, you at least keep the children and women from starvation. Carleson's answer is that his practice kept the family together-- and if it were in need, it received aid.

Of course, not all the 1.3 million missing fathers drive good cars, earn big money or hide in the closet when the caseworker arrives. Many deserters are just rotten. But there are hundreds of thousands who do make a racket of it. So the HEW now will pour money into the search of the errant male, establish his paternity, force him to contribute to his wife and progeny -- and finally give thytaxpayer a break. He has to eat too.

ZIEGLER AND DISNEYLAND

WASHINGTON — The big question everyone in Washington is asking this week is, "If for some reason President Nixon has to leave office, will Ron Ziegler be able to get his job back at Disneyland?

The consensus among most Ziegler- watchers is that he will. One watcher who asked not to be mentioned by name because he still has relatives in Orange County, Calif., told me, "I've been watching Ziegler now for five years, and as far as I'm concerned he never left Disneyland. Ron is a born believer in fantasy and he knows how to treat everyone like children. The very virtues that made him one of the best guides at Disneyland are now paying off for him as spokesman for the President of the United States."

"But wouldn't the Disney people be hesitant about rehiring someone who worked in the White House?"

The Ziegler- watcher shook his head. "Ron was never involved with Watergate. He's clean as a hound's tooth. You want to know why?"

"Sure," I said.

"Because they didn't trust him. They were afraid if they told him anything, he'd spill it. Everyone else in the White House apparently knew what the hell was going on except Ziegler. They treated him like a dum-dum and now they're all going to jail, and Ron has the last laugh."

"I've never seen Ron laugh," I said.

"It was just a figure of speech," my friend replied. "Do you realize that next to Al Haig, the President depends more on Ziegler than any other person in his Administration?"

"Why is that?"

"Because Ron still believes everything the President tells him."

"You mean Ziegler's not putting us on when he says now that we have all the facts the only conclusion we can arrive at is that the President knew nothing about the coverup?"

"In his heart he really believes it."

"How could he?" I asked.

"Because he worked at Disneyland. Anyone who believes in Mickey Mouse, Snow White and Donald Duck is going to believe Mr. Nixon's story. You can say what you want to about Ron, but he does have a lot of faith."

"Does he believe in the Easter Bunny?"

"I don't think the Easter bunny was a Walt Disney creation," he replied.

"You know, sometimes when I watch Ziegler on television, I get the feeling he isn't telling the whole truth ... that he's making things sound better than they really are," I said.

"And where do you think he learned that?" my friend asked.

"Disneyland?"

"Where else? Disney created a world of make-believe and illusion. When Ron moved to Washington he just took that world with him."

"You seem to have a grudging admiration for Ziegler," I said.

"I do. When Ron first started in his job he didn't know very much, and he said whatever they told him to. But now he's adding his own fantasies to Watergate and they are as good as any being put out in this country."

"So you think that no matter what happens to President Nixon, Ziegler won't have to worry abouta job."

"I know it," my friend replied.

"How can you be so sure?"

"No one knows this, but Ziegler never quit his job at Disneyland. He just took a leave of absence."

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: FBI Probing Klassen

We have reported that Klassen accepted a $22,917.67 consultant's fee from the Martin E. Segal Company, a postal contractor, while he was a member of the Postal Service's policy- making Board of Governors.

Before this promotion to the board, Klassen personally handled as deputy postmaster general a transaction that netted the Segal firm 15 per cent of a half- million- dollar contract.

Again, after Klassen left the board to become postmaster general, the Segal firm was awarded another large contract to do a life insurance study for the Postal Service.

After our story appeared, the FBI assigned agents to determine whether the $22,917.67 which Klassen collected from the Segal firm was an illegal kickback in return for these postal contracts.

We have also documented in a series of columns how Klassen spent postal funds for Christmas gifts, fancy furnishings and other personal extravagances, how he padded the postal payroll with his friends and favored other friends with postal contracts, how he deliberately slowed the mails in 1972 to avoid a rate increase that might have hurt President Nixon's re- election prospects.

We will leave it to the FBI and Justice Department to determine whether these activities were illegal or merely improper.

ZIEGLER's LIES: Despite all the Watergate lies that have backfired, presidential press secretary Ronald Ziegler still seems incapable of telling the truth about the most minor matters.

From time to time, we publish a catalogue of "Zieglerisms," as we call his official falsehoods. Here is the latest edition:

1. A year ago, we reported that the White House kept a secret blacklist of Republican senators who had displeased President Nixon and who, forthwith, were denied White House invitations and other courtesies.

The White House put out an indignant denial that any such list existed. Now our story has been confirmed by none other than the former White House impresario of dirty tricks, Charles Colson.

On a tape made without his knowledge, Colson said: "A lovely girl ... worked for me and maintained all those lists which were known as the 'opponents lists,' people who would not be invited to the White House."

Those on the "opponents lists," said Colson, were "some guys in the Senate" who had annoyed the White House.

2. Earlier this month, Ziegler twice assured reporters that the phlebitis in President Nixon's left leg had resolved itself and that the President was "fine."

This was contradicted later by both the President's physician, Dr. Walter Tkach, and staff chief Gen. Alexander Haig, who acknowledged that the phlebitis condition is continuing.

Dr. Tkach added that he had warned the President not to go to the Middle East last month, because the blood clot in his leg might become dislodged and endanger his life.

This substantiates our report while the President was in the Middle East that a special medical team had been sent to the Mediterranean as an unprecedented precaution.

"The five- man team," we reported on June 14, "is led by Capt. William J. Fouty, chief of surgery at the Bethesda Naval Hospital, and Dr. Myer Rosenthal, head of the hospital's Intensive Care Unit."

3. We broadcast over the Mutual radio network on June 18 that the United States was preparing to sell police equipment to the Soviet secret police, of all people.

Among the crime- fighting equipment American companies would offer to the KGB, we reported were mobile crime labs, metal detectors, voice identification systems, detection devices to locate explosives and narcotics, electric arcs, anticar- stealing devices, chemicals and gas, equipment for tracing fingerprints and equipment to protect personnel against firearms.

Our report was echoed a month later by Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash. Ziegler immediately denied it. He had spent an entire morning, he said, trying in vain to find out what Jackson was talking about. Perhaps American companies want to sell the Soviets "walkie- talkies or something," suggested Ziegler.

Next day, the story was confirmed and Ziegler was caught in another lie.

WASHINGTON WHIRL: Vice President Gerald Ford has been making hard- sell appeals for $50 to $5,000 for the Senate and House Republican campaign committees. His letter for House candidates is signed "Jerry Ford." The Senate letter is more formal, signed "Gerald R. Ford" ... President Nixon's most aggressive defender, Rabbi Baruch Korff, is no stranger to controversy. In 1966, Korff defended the John Birch Society against attacks by the Jewish anti- defamation league. But Korff told us he has now had "second thoughts" about the Birchers, "because they want the President impeached" ... The House Ethics Committee, which has been in existence since early 1967, got around to issuing its "Advisory Opinion No. 3" last month. In other words, the committee has felt compelled to issue formal ethical advice less than once every two years.

Ann Landers

Reader doesn't like homos; won't try it 'their way'

Dear Ann Landers: May I respond to the homosexual's letter in which he suggests there is something missing -- or even peculiar -- about heterosexuality?

I have always believed that the purpose of life is not sex, but rather, the purpose of sex is life. Since homosexuality cannot produce life, it somehow seems anti-nature. It reduces sex to an act of pleasure, with no chance of becoming anything higher.

Since no civilization with pleasure as its goal can survive, I believe homosexuality cannot be a part of The Grand Design. I view it as an abnormality. Furthermore, I resent it when homosexuals suggest there is something strange about me because I haven't tried it "their way." Comment, please, -- S.F.

Dear S.F.: I, for one, am fed up to the teeth with articles on unisex, omnisex, pansexual, transsexual, homosexual and bisexual confessions staring at me from the pages of every newspaper and magazine I pick up these days. I'm beginning to feel like a closet heterosexual.

I respect the right of all the aforementioned groups to do their own thing, but now it appears that they want to hang the label "inhibited" or "chicken" on those of us who aren't interested in experimenting in order that we might "speak intelligently" on the subject.

The next person who says to me, "If you haven't tried it, don't knock it," is going to get a knock in the head with the heaviest object I can lay my hands on.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 17- year- old high school student who is sort of messed up. I know darned well you aren't a magician and that you can't straighten out this mess I've made of my life, so why am I writing to you? Because I don't have to look you in the eye. Also, you won't blab it around because you don't know me. And you don't know anyone who does.

Will you please tell me how a 17- year- old kid can get professional help without telling his parents? They'll want to know what's bugging me and I'm not about to play true confessions. Besides, getting professional help is an admission that you are weak, or nutty, or that you can't handle your own life.

If I went to a clinic, would I just walk up the the front desk and say, "I'm wigged out"? Please tell me, first, how do I know I need professional help, and then tell me, how do I go about getting it? -- S.L.M.

Dear S.L.M.: Seeking professional help is not an admission that you are nuts. On the contray. The real dingbats think they are fine and dandy, and everybody else is nuts.

There are various degrees of mental illness and a person needn't be a basket case before he decides he should talk things over with a professional. If you feel very sad, unloved, and think nobody likes you, you need help. Also, the inability to express your real feelings, control your anger, or have fun "like other kids" are symptoms. If you're on drugs you are really sick.

The first step is to talk to your school counselor. If you need intensive therapy, it will be recommended and you will be told where to go to get it. Simply tell your parents you are depressed, and need outside help. No other details are necessary. There's not a person in this world who couldn't profit from counseling at some time during his life.

Going to a wedding? Giving one? Or standing up in one? Even if you're already married Ann Landers's completely new "The Bride's Guide" will answer questions about today's weddings.

Miss Deborah Heacox and Gary McKown were united in marriage at 7 p.m. June 29 at Calvary Assembly of God Church. The Rev. T. A. McDonough officiated at the double- ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eual Heacox, 925 Lake St., and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leo McKown of Route Two.

The altar was decorated with four matching brass candelabras holding seven tapers each. Candlelighters were Miss Paula Culbertson, cousin of the bride, and Miss Pam McKown, sister of the groom.

Aisles were trimmed with blue and white tissue flowers on a background of net, and each flower was tied with a blue ribbon.

Mrs. Glenn McClellan presented nuptial selections at the organ, and Joel Allen sang, "One Hand, One Heart", "With These Hands" and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a formal-length gown. The bodice featured a bib effect with a fluted neckline and long fitted sleeves with fluting on the cuffs. Tiny self- covered buttons accented the lace bib. The A-line skirt was adorned with several rose lace appliques.

The bride's chapel- length mantilla was edged in white lace and was held secure by a Juliet cap of the same lace trim. She carried a bouquet of white and blue daisies and carnations with baby's breath and long blue and white streamers.

Miss Sharon Beaird served as maid of honor, and Mrs. Sherrie Morris was bridesmaid. The bride's attendants and candlelighters wore identical gowns. All featured empire waistlines and were made of turquoise flocked organza with a cotton underlay. The A-line dresses featured sheer, puffed sleeves and stand- up collars. The girls wore wide-brimmed picture hats trimmed with lace and a bow and turquioise streamers. Their bouquets included blue, white and yellow daisies and baby's breath tied with long streamers.

Harvey Hull was best man, and Larry Lynxwiler was groomsmen. Ushers were Jerry Hull and Gale Wisdom.

Mrs. Jim Wood of Piggott was pianist, and Miss Elaine Austin of Poplar Bluff, Mo., sang, "You Make Me Feel Brand New" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was escorted down the aisle by her father and given in marriage by her parents.

She wore a formal- length gown of bridal satin accented in daisy appliqued lace at the high neckline, on the bib front and at the end of the long sheer sleeves. The daisy lace also extended above the hemline and on to the gown's train. She wore an elbow-length veil of sheer illusion which was held secure by a Juliet- style lace cap. The bride carried a bouquet of mixed summer flowers and greenery.

Miss Beverly Harris of Piggott was maid of honor. Miss Annita Johnson, also of Piggott, was the bridesmaid. The flower girl was Leah Kay True of Sikeston, sister of the groom. They wore identical, mint green, floor-length dresses with long sleeves trimmed in deep pink velvet ribbons and wide-brimmed picture hats.

Best man was Terry True of Sikeston, brother of the groom. Groomsman was Alan Morris of Piggott. They wore Prince Edward black tuxedos with raspberry ruffled shirts.

Jim Wood and Mike Throgmorton of Piggott were ushers and also served as candlelighters.

Mrs. True chose a navy blue and white floor- length dress with white accessories. She also wore a corsage of cymbidium orchids.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church fellowship hall. The bride's table was decorated with a three- tiered wedding cake, silver punch bowl and service and an arrangement of daisies and pompons.

Serving at the reception were Mrs. Leroy Bolton, Mrs. Junior Harris and Mrs. Jerrry Holifield, and Mrs. David Spear was at the guestbook.

A short honeymoon trip followed the ceremony. The couple now lives at 816 Illinois Ave., Cape Girardeau, Mo.

Sikeston eliminated

Sikeston became the first team to be eliminated from the Sr. Babe Ruth state baseball tournament at VFW stadium Wednesday night, bowing to defending state and regional champ, Sugar Creek, 2-1 in 11 innings. Jefferson City remained unbeaten in the event with a come from behind 6-3 victory over Jackson.

Dave Williams had a no hitter going for Jackson until the seventh inning when Jefferson City charged from a 3-2 deficit with a four run seventh inning and collected its one two hits. Williams fanned nine and walked one.

Jackson took a 2-0 lead in the fourth and went ahead in the last of the sixth after Jeff City had tied the mark in the top of the frame. But four errors played a key role in the Jackson defeat.

Mike Moore and Donnie Taylor tied up in a pitching duel that wasn't decided until the 11th inning when Sugar Creek sent the winning run home on an infield hit.

Moore mowed down 20 Sikeston batsmen on strikeouts and issued two walks while Taylor managed three fans and gave up nine free passes.

Bill Schatzley was the only hitter of the game with more than one hit was both teams were limited to four safties. Schatzley had two singles. Charlie Miller connected for the games only extra base knock, a double.

Tournament play resumes at 7 p.m. tonight with Jackson battling Sugar Creek. The winner goes against Jefferson City at 9 p.m. A Jeff City win would end the tourney, but a loss would send the event into a Friday night championship showdown.

4-games at Chaffee

CHAFFEE — Carthage and Chaffee held the distinction of being the only undefeated team among the six teams competiting in the Jr. Babe Ruth state tournament at Harmon field after recording wins Wednesday evening. Carthage started the night off with a 4-1 win over Booneville and Chaffee followed with a 4-0 triumph over Sikeston.

Skeeter Allan hammered a first inning home run for Carthage and doubled home a pair of others, scored two and posted a two for four figure at the plate to lead the teams five hit barrage.

Terry Peterson scattered six hits to Booneville and was aided in his effort by a tight defense which once got him out of a no out, bases loaded affair.

Sikeston's generally potent bats were silenced by slinder Lindy Duncan, who limited the stars to only two hits and held them scoreless through seven frames.

Chaffee broke open a scoreless deadlock with three runs in the third and jumped on Larry Jackson for 11 hits in the game.

Duncan, Wachter, Jim McGuire and Estes had two hits each for the winning host. Kiefer and Whitaker slammed doubles.

Sikeston's lone hits came off the bats of Russell Deal and Leible.

Tournament action resumed at 1 p.m. today when Kirksville squared off against Sikeston in a losers bracket game and first game of a four game schedule.

Booneville was to have played Ft. Leonardwood at 3 p.m. Carthage will collide with Chaffee at 7 p.m. and the two afternoon winners will meet at 9 p.m.

PITTSBURGH — Clyde King was named interim manager of the Atlanta Braves, replacing Eddie Mathews, who was fired last Sunday.

10 weeks remain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Now that the All-Star Game is history, all the stars can get back to the business of settling the four division races in the remaining 10 weeks of the baseball season.

That's just what they will start to do today as the major leagues resume where they left off Sunday with two new managers and a whopping 17-game schedule that includes five twilight-night doubleheaders.

Jim Marshall debuts as manager of the Chicago Cubs when they entertain the Philadelphia Phillies in an afternoon contest. Marshall replaces Whitey Lockman, who resigned Wednesday to devote full time to his other duties as vice president in charge of player development.

Under the lights in Atlanta, Clyde King takes over as manager of the Braves against the San Diego Padres. King once managed the San Francisco Giants and has been a special assistant to Eddie Robinson, vice president of the Braves, for two years.

Marshall, who managed for six seasons in the Cubs' farm system, was a Cub coach this year and was Lockman's own choice as his successor. Lockman was in his second full season after succeeding Leo Durocher in mid-1972.

The Cubs, who traded away a number of veteran stars last winter, have a 41-52 record and are fifth in the National League's East Division, seven games out of first place and just one-half game out of the cellar.

Marshall was given a contract until the end of the season.

King' contract also is until the end of the season.

Robinson said that if a change is made next year, "Hank Aaron would be considered."

Aaron, who has often said he doesn't want to manage, expressed resentment at the All Star Game in Pittsburgh Tuesday night that the Braves had summarily ruled him out along with his brother, Tommie Aaron, manager of the Braves' Savannah, Ga., team in the Southern League.

The Braves are fourth in the NL West, 14 games behind the Los Angeles Dodgers, who have a 5½-game lead over Cincinnati. Oakland leads the American League West by five games over the Chicago White Sox.

The six teams in the AL East are separated by just five games, with Boston leading Baltimore by one-half game.

TO CITIZENS OF MISSISSIPPI COUNTY

I am writing this letter to the citizens of the First District, Mississippi County.

Early in 1973 the three judges of the County Court discussed and agreed on a procedure relative to resurfacing roads in Mississippi County. It was agreed that the work would be done on a first- come first-served basis to be determined by the date of deposit of money by the landowner.

This procedure was deemed necessary because there are a number of roads in the county needing resurfacing and obviously, with limited resources and personnel, work on all of them can not be done at the same time.

However, this procedure has not been followed. At the time Mr. Shelby Dick was hired, I was told by Judges Winchester and Hall that Mr. Dick would be in full charge and that itonly takes two judges to run the County Court. Since that time various landowners have made their deposits, yet others who made deposits at a later date have gotten their roads resurfaced, while in at least one instance the landowner's money has been on deposit for nearly two years and no work has been done.

I realize this is an election year and that my fellow judges have opponents. Yet, it is my belief that the agreed upon procedure is fair to all and should be followed. As the matter is now handled, it is not fair to me or to the people of the First District.

I just want people to know that under present conditions my hands are tied.

Very truly yours,

Lindsay Hurley
Judge of the County Court

Mississippi County

McKinney collected three of Bridger's runs and won the mound for Bridger in other actions. Williams took the loss, allowing Bridger to drive in eight runs on their five hits.

Memphis bombed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jacksonville can't kick ... not enough, anyway.

And Gary Davidson certainly can't. Not after the World Football League commissioner saw his "action and entertainment" dream explode into reality in football-mad Birmingham.

The Sharks set a WFL record Wednesday night—not a hard feat considering the league's only a few weeks old—when they kicked four field goals in the first half of their game against Southern California.

Grant Guthrie booted threepointers of 23, 29, 27 and 42 yards. It turned out to be three points too few—or perhaps the game turned out to be seven seconds too long for Jacksonville.

On the last play of the game, rookie quarterback Tony Adams from Utah State heaved a 40-yard touchdown pass to Dave Williams and the Sun came up shining with a 22-19 victory that shocked the 46,780 Sharks fans.

In Wednesday night's other WFL games, the Birmingham Americans clobbered Memphis 58-33, the Chicago Fire turned back Portland 29-22 and the Florida Blazers beat Houston 15-3. The New York Stars are in Philadelphia tonight for the WFL's nationally televised game against the Bell.

American 58, Southmen 33

As a WFL-record 61,319 fans at Legion Field shrieked their approval, veteran George Mira and rookie Matthew Reed of Grambling decimated Memphis' secondary with 378 aerial yards and five touchdown passes—three to Alfred Jenkins—to keep the Americans unbeaten.

Mira threw 38 and 74-yard scoring strikes to Jenkins and one to Dennis Homan for 12 yards. In the third period, Mira bowed out with a sprained ankle.

Fire 29, Storm 22

Virgil Carter of the Fire had a hot night in the air, too. He threw touchdown passes of 50 yards to Mark Keller, one yard to Cyril Pinder and 69 yards to James Scott to as Chicago took advantage of Storm mistakes to stay tied with Birmingham atop the Central Division.

"Damn, 22 points should be enough to win in football," fumed Portland Coach Dick Coury. "We gave up some cheap touchdowns. Anytime you make the mistakes we did and give up the big touchdowns, you can't win."

Blazers 15, Texans 3

Rookie running back Tommy Reamon rambled for 73 yards, 15 of them good for a touchdown, and caught an actionpoint pass in the Blazers' easy victory over the Texans, whose only points came on a 47-yard Charlie Durkee field goal.

Oran streaks

ORAN — Oran continued to win in the SEMO softball league by running over the New Hamburg Blues 12-5 Wednesday night.

Don Robert picked up the win as Oran backed his pitching with 12 hits including a homerun by Lindon Duncan. Duncan collected three hits in the game.

Oran is 14-1 for the season.

Sheriff Ralph Mouser said the theft was reported to his office early Wednesday and is believed to have occurred about a week ago.

Bond wants budget requests on priority basis

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Prefacing the state budget preparation manual with a comment about Missouri's "gloomy financial picture," Gov. Christopher S. Bond has called on the 14 department directors to list budget requests on a priority basis.

"This is to ensure that the state meets the needs of crucial programs in all areas," said Robert L. James, commissioner of administration. "The state's fiscal picture is tight and gloomy. There will not be enough funds in fiscal year 1976 for across-the-board program increases. That is why we have to know the priorities."

The other major point in the manual, sent out to the directors to aid them in budget preparations for next year, is a recommendation that each department include a seven per cent across-the-board pay hike for employes as "an attempt to keep state salaries in line with inflation."

In his message to the directors, Bond said he had no intention of recommending increases in program levels unless service improvements and a need for such improvements can be clearly made.

James emphasized that the salary increase recommendation was only a proposal and would go through the same budget consideration process as all other requests.

He noted, however, that while state workers have received five per cent pay boosts in the last two years, those cost-of-living increases have failed to keep pace with inflation.

Bond said reorganization of the executive branch should help consolidate some departmental activities and free funds for other uses, but neither he nor James estimated the amount of money that could be saved.

"HEALTH TIPS"

Wash and massage your feet often, taking time to soak them to help the muscles relax. Use an antiseptic, absorbant foot powder which will reduce infection, particularly that developing between the toes. The powder will also act as a deodorant, keeping the skin dry and comfortable.

"FISH TALK" By Ray May

FISHING — A FAMILY AFFAIR

Remember when the weatherman said, "Continued fair and mild through Sunday ...."? The yard was knee deep in grass, it was the kid's birthday and your wife said she'd change her address permanently if you took one step towards your tackle box. Remember how that old urge took hold and you drove like a madman to the lake? And after a $25 argument with the highway patrol, how you finally got on the water just as the wind came roaring in and the clouds burst loose with that record rain for that time of year? And how you were bailing like crazy when your motor conked out? That was back when you were married, remember?

Alas, even in this age of medical miracles, no one has yet discovered a cure for being "fish bit"! But there is a way to avoid this fellow's predicament. Next time, take her with you — make it a family affair.

What's the law?

The case of the shaky hand

By: JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Sarah was so old she remembered when a bureau was merely a piece of furniture. In fact, at 90 years of age, she was so frail that if anyone sneezed in her presence, she felt contrained to hold on to something for fear of being blown away.

Consequently, when she signed her will at that ripe old age, her lawyer found it necessary to take her by the hand and physically guide her shaky hand through the maneuvers of her signature.

Shortly thereafter, Sarah tired and expired. When her will was presented in court to be carried out, however, several of her disinherited relatives attacked its validity hoping to "knock it out" and share in Sarah's estate.

"To be valid," they argued in court, "a will must be signed. And, Sarah never signed her will. Her lawyer did. He merely used Sarah's hand as a penholder."

"I did what I did," was the attorney's answer, "because it was necessary. Sarah was too weak to sign her name by herself, and, even if she didn't completely sign it physically, she certainly signed it spiritually."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you "knock out" Sarah's will as not having been signed by her?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that where a person intends to sign a will and is not forced to do so, it is not invalidated because her attorney helps her to sign her name.

The United States pours more toxic wastes into rivers and oceans per citizen than Asia does for each 1,000 of its people. Americans create more industrial waste and use more energy and use more of the earth's mineral and other resources than any other country. The more industrailzied a nation becomes, and the higher man's standards of living becomes, the more he pollutes his only water supply.

You'll be much less of a "Pollution Partisan" by using refined water. Here's why! Only ¼ cup soap is needed per wash load, and nothing more. No harsh cleaning aids or detergents needed. Not only helps in the famly wash to cut costs, but is gentle and saves in replacement costs too. Makes your dishes and glassware sparkle. Refined water doesn't cost, it saves! It is not what you put in the water, but what you take out that counts! Call Braswell.

Ag committee may subpoena milk data

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A joint legislative committee on agriculture has decided to use its subpoena power, if necessary, to obtain information on milk price markups.

Shortly after the meeting Wednesday, the chairman delivered a letter to agriculture director James Boillot's office, requesting information filed by the middlemen, which Boillot, supported by an attorney general's opinion, has refused to make public.

The letter by Chairman D. R. Osbourn, D-Monroe City, a farmer, said the committee also would use its subpoena power if necessary, to obtain transcripts of testimony at recent Department of Agriculture milk hearings in Springfield.

Osbourn said he would like to have the information by July 31. The committee will meet again in Jefferson City Aug. 13.

The resolution was offered by state Sen. Paul Bradshaw, R-Springfield, a lawyer, and seconded by Rep. W. E. Blackwell, D-Hermann, a rancher.

Boillot has said the information is confidential and would decrease competition by dairies and milk processors if it is made public. Boillot was in northern Missouri on a tour with Gov. Christopher S. Bond.

Bradshaw led a move last spring in the Senate to pass a resolution saying Boillot's action violated the open meetings law.

"The consumer is paying too high a price and we know the farmer is getting just enough," Bradshaw said.

He said that in Springfield, the state's leading milk producing area, there has been 44-cent markups on a half gallon of milk.

Osbourn said the information would assist the committee in deciding whether to change Missouri's law, which says retailers and processors cannot sell below cost, to have a maximum price or a maximum markup.

The committee instructed the committee on legislative research to research the California and Louisiana laws which regulate milk prices.

Boillot recently ordered dairy processors to stop renting or leasing equipment to retail outlets. At the Springfield hearing, witnesses said at least two processors were involved with selected retailers in kickbacks, loans, special credit terms and equipment deals.

"It seems a mistake in priorities to open up the fairgrounds and close the public records," Bradshaw remarked.

He referred to a Senate committee investigation, to begin Friday, into the rock music festival last weekend at the state fairgrounds in Sedalia.

Boillot has said, "I'm responsible."

Bluff man arrested in hit-and-run

POPLAR BLUFF — Oscar Newby, 63, of Poplar Bluff was arrested Wednesday for allegedly leaving the scene of an accident Tuesday in which a young Poplar Bluff motorcyclist was seriously injured.

The hit- and- run accident occurred at 6:20 p.m. Tuesday on Highway 158 about a mile west of Harviell when a motorcycle ridden by Randy Leon Desgranges, 15, drove from a field onto the road and was struck in the side by a maroon car which left the scene.

A highway patrol spokesman said today that Newby was arrested Wednesday by Trooper R. W. Jones in Poplar Bluff and was placed in the Butler County jail.

The boy was taken to Doctors Hospital, where his leg was amputated.

EAST PRAIRIE — Expenditures by the Division of Welfare in Mississippi County during July totaled $105,222, according to figures released by Mrs. Agnes Cunningham, county director.

The highest amount expended, $92,222, was for 734 aid to dependent children cases involving 1,882 children.

A total of 191 general relief cases received $13,000.

The county had 111 recipients in professional nursing homes; 622 supplemental security income and Missouri supplemental income cases; 514 supplemental security income only cases, for which medical benefits and social services are provided; and 172 cases which received only Missouri supplemental income.

The county had approximately 1,238 food stamp cases involving 4,278 persons.

Protective social services were provided for 99 children, and 319 children received preventive services.

County Court funds for eight children in foster care totaled $570.56. A total of $1,634 was spent for aid to dependent foster care payments for 17 children.

Protective and preventive services were provided for 26 adults.

The county had 38 participants enrolled in the work incentive program and 36 children received work incentive day care services.

Nashville man accident victim—

POPLAR BLUFF — A Nashville, Tenn., truck driver received minor injuries today when his tractor- trailer truck ran off the road on a curve and struck a tree, according to the highway patrol.

Charles Joseph White, 28, was taken to Doctors Hospital following the accident at 5:50 a.m. which occurred on Highway 60 five miles west of Poplar Bluff.

authorities claimed that he was supposed to be in the hospital.

New Madrid County sheriff W. L. "Cowboy" Ramsey claimed that the hospital excuse given to Pemiscot County authorities upon their inquiry was a coverup for Butler, who was supposedly in that county doing undercover work for the sheriff trying to uncover leads on burglaries that had taken place in New Madrid County.

"He really does have a blood ailment that he has checked every two weeks," Ramsey said. "Butler has been working as a trusty and doing undercover work for our department," Ramsey reported.

Butler was arrested July 17 by Missouri State Highway Patrolman Joe Moore and Pemiscot County Deputy Sheriff Morris Malin and placed in the Pemiscot County jail where he remained until Monday. At that time, New Madrid County authorities picked him up for return to New Madrid County jail.

Monday Butler was scheduled to appear in Pemiscot County Magistrate Court on the driving while intoxicated charge, but his case was continued when he failed to appear.

Hazel said today that charges will be filed against Butler for confidence games relating to the passing of a check on the Idle Hour Inn signed by himself and made out to him. He reportedly had two other checks in his possession when arrested. The check was $98.09 and was cashed by Bruce's Big Star.

Butler is to appear Sept. 11 in New Madrid County Circuit Court on the charge of possession of stolen property.
